

The Harvard Program in Education Afterschool and Resiliency (PEAR) and SEDL are collaborating on an exciting curriculum project. In the next six months we will create a searchable online database for afterschool and summer programs that shows information on units of instruction for children K-8. We are using multiple sources to find existing resources. As part of our project, we would like you to nominate curricula and educational materials that you have found useful. We want to be as inclusive as possible and are especially interested in the experience of practitioners.

Many thanks for your participation. We will mention you as a nominator on the completed web site (if you are willing to be listed).
